Your Centenary Home

All students live just a short walk from the activities and resources on our beautiful campus in one of three World Houses – communities for learning and leading as well as living.

"Life in the residence halls really builds our Centenary family."

- Kendall Hughes '13

Our World Houses challenge you to link knowledge and action in MORE MEANINGFUL service to others.

WHAT IS A WORLD HOUSE?

Centenary's residence life is centered around World Houses, drawing students together in a common residence and with a common purpose. Through your House, you will actively address one of three global challenges through service projects with community partners and leadership opportunities both on and off-campus.
